MASSIMODECARLO

Milan, London, Hong Kong, VSpace > Online, Pièce Unique > Paris, Beijing > Permanent Space, Seoul > Studio

MASSIMODECARLO returns to Art Basel Paris for its 2024 edition, presenting a diverse selection of works by international artists. The booth will present a dynamic range of media featuring both established names and emerging talents from the gallery's program. From Italian masters who delve into language, abstraction, and the ancestral - such as Carla Accardi, Giorgio Griffa, Gianfranco Baruchello, and Mimmo Paladino - to the irreverent provocateur Maurizio Cattelan, along with artists like Massimo Bartolini and Diego Perrone, who conjure unusual environments and mental landscapes that blur the boundaries between reality and imagination.

The booth also highlights works by artists Matthew Wong, Dominique Fung, and Lenz Geerk, exploring the delicate space between the dreamlike and the real, alongside the textured and conceptual abstract landscapes of Jennifer Guidi and Rob Pruitt. On the booth's floor, the three-dimensional creations of Paloma Varga Weisz and Yeesoookyung offer a fresh perspective on sculpture.

A selection of works from 1999

MASSIMODECARLO is thrilled to join the Oh La La! initiative at Art Basel Paris, a celebration of rarely exhibited, unconventional works, on view from October 18 at the Grand Palais.

In our presentation, the year 1999 serves as a central theme that weaves together the works of diverse artists across nationalities, practices, and approaches. This year was marked by figures such as Maurizio Cattelan, Paola Pivi, Thomas Grünfeld, and Massimo Bartolini, all of whom were leaving their mark on the art world while questioning its boundaries. 1999 stands at the crossroads between the end of one century and the dawn of another, characterised by a unique confluence of artistic exploration and cultural introspection. During this period, artists grappled with the legacies of the past while looking toward the future, leading to a dialogue about identity - both individual and collective - that challenged established norms and conventions.

At the heart of our presentation is Maurizio Cattelan's A Perfect Day (1999), created in that symbolic last year of the century. This work features Massimo De Carlo himself taped to a wall, serving as an absurd yet fitting commentary on the commercialisation of art at the dawn of the new millennium. It provokes us to question whether the art market is a serious business or merely a stage for performance.

The late 90s were a time when artists like Cattelan, Pivi, Grünfeld, and Bartolini evolved alongside MASSIMODECARLO, each contributing to the gallery's identity. Their works, much like the gallery itself, embraced the playful chaos of the era, marking a shared journey through experimentation and irreverence.
